

BRAVES NO LET VAN RUN this time, and that will be about all of that movie style Indian talk. Translated it means that Lincoln-Way's scabback Van DeLay only picked up a few yards - six or eight-on this try. That large Lincoln-Way gent, No. 60 is Ron Badten, a guard. But in the picture below the Bremen defenders were unable to contain Van and you see him there, No. 21, footing it past the G mark and G means goal. No. 72, coming up in the rear there is Lincoln-Way's Joe Wajchert, a guard, DeLay scored three touchdowns, and Kurt Fredin and Tom Hamilton each scored one. All in all the Knights had an enjoyable day.

Trace Attempted Train Wreck To Two Boys

The persons who attempted to wreck two Wabash passenger trains at Orland Park on Sunday, Oct. 21, have been apprehended--two boys, one 11 and the other 12 years old.

They piled debris on the rails "to see it fly," they told Orland Police Commissioner Frank Guetter, who traced them down and got their stories.

They hadn't thought, they said, of the possibility that their acts might have killed and maimed scores of persons and caused property damages running into tens of thousands of dollars.

But officials of the Wabash railroad, who are still shuddering when they think what might have happened, are determined to press the case and both boys are to be taken into family court.

Their parents were deeply shocked by the affair and at the story told by the youths to Commissioner Guetter. The parents, Guetter said, have agreed to make restitution to the railroad for the damage to the locomotive on the flyer that hit a railroad tie, a four-inch diameter steel pipe, and several large boulders while traveling 70 miles an hour.

The locomotive left the track, the engineer related afterwards, and seemed to hang in the air for several seconds before it came down. Miraculously the wheels came down on the rails, gripped, slid, gripped and finally held.

It pitched and rolled for several hundred feet, the engineer said, before deciding to remain upright.

The tie used by the boys had been cut to three quarters length to form part of a platform for removing handcars, which reduced the weight enough for them to handle it. The fact that it was shorter also was believed to have been a factor in permitting the engine to regain balance. Some of the tie was thrown off the rail and some of it was chewed up and wedged beneath the locomotive.

It was estimated that the damage to the locomotive would well exceed $1,000, the police commissioner said he was informed by representatives of the railroad.

Had the flyer left the tracks, rail men said, it is likely that the last several cars would have plowed thru a dozen or more homes in Orland Park Hills with resultant heavy loss of life or injury to the occupants.

The two boys admitted piling rocks and other things on the track in front of a southbound passenger train that Sunday afternoon. Apparently the stuff didn't fly high enough or far enough to suit so they heaped heavier obstacles on the rails for the night train to hit. It was dark when the flyer went thru and about the only thing the youngsters could have seen fly then, it was pointed out by investigators, would have been railroad cars.

The boys claimed they had no intention of killing anyone--they hadn't thought of the possibility, they said. They also declared that the idea did not come from any TV program, comic book or any story they had read. They thought it up all by themselves, they stated.

Knights Blank Bremen 33-0: Aim For Rich Now

BY RANDY WHEELER
The Lincoln-Way Knights rolled over Bremen last Saturday, scoring 33 points and holding Bremen scoreless. The victory was the Knight's second straight win, giving them a 2-3-1 record in conference play and 3-3-1 overall record.

Kurt Fredin, senior quarterback for Lincoln-Way kicked off for the Knights with Steve Snyder of Bremen receiving on the 32 yard line and carrying the ball only three yards before being brought down by the hard-hitting L.W. line. After three plays and seven yards gained, Bremen decided to punt with Joe Samojedney, Bremen's shoeless punter, performing the honors. Van DeLay caught and returned the ball to the Lincoln-Way 41 yard line. The Knights started their attack on the Bremen defense immediately. Van DeLay carried the ball 10 yards to the Bremen 49 yard line, giving Lincoln-Way an immediate first down. After several more yard winning plays with DeLay, Hamilton and Lincoln-Way's newly converted fullback, Ron Badten, carrying, Kurt Fredin hit Van DeLay with a 27 yard pass which DeLay caught and carried the remaining eight yards for the Knight's first touchdown. The extra point was then run by DeLay, giving the L-W squad an early 7-0 lead.

Fredin again kicked to Bremen, this time a distance of 46 yards, and Ray Morris returned the ball 29. However, Bremen couldn't gain so Samojedney again punted in his barefoot fashion, this time a distance of 24 yards. Shortly after the Knights took possession of the ball, the first quarter ended. Lincoln-Way continued to play excellent football in the second quarter, controlling the ball for a majority of the period, and holding the Bremen Braves to a total of 11 yards gained. The Knights also hit pay dirt for the second time in the game, with Kurt Fredin carrying thru the line two yards, making the score Lincoln-Way 13 -- Bremen 0. The attempt for the extra point was again successful, with Hart catching a quickie pass off the fingers of Fredin and flopping into the end-zone. The score at the end of the second quarter was L-W 14 and Bremen 0.

The Knights received the ball at the beginning of the second half and promptly started a rush. The running was basically made up of quick hitting plays from tackle to tackle which picked up almost four or five yards on every play. Excellent blocks were made in the line by Joe Wajchert, Ron Sylvester and Jim Wiegel. It was blocks by this trio and the rest of the Lincoln-Way line, coupled with the fine running by the Knights backfield that led to the next L-W touchdown, a one-yard dive over guard by Van Delay. The attempt for the conversion was unsuccessful. The score which was now L-W 20, Bremen 0 was again altered when Tom Hamilton culminated a drive by the Knights with a 19-yard run around end to lengthen the lead to 26-0 at the end of the third quarter. The Knights not only shined on offense, rushing for 111 yards in the period, they also did an admirable job on defense, holding Bremen to 22 yards by rushing.

The Knights, still not satisfied with their lead, struck again in the final period. After eight plays and 76 yards gained, Fredin handed off to DeLay who scored his third TD of the day by punching thru the line gaining the needed yard. The conversion was successful, Fredin throwing a short pass to junior end, Ron Kokal who fielded it nicely in the end zone. The Knights defensive line continued to shine in the fourth quarter. The Braves gained yardage on only six rushing plays -- a total of 17 yards, but on the other two ground plays they tried, they were hit for losses of six and eleven yards respectively. Therefore, Bremen's total yards by rushing in the fourth quarter was an even zero. Very fine defensive jobs were done by two junior guards, Mike Delaney and Joe Wajchert and by two seniors, Ron Sylvester, playing tackle and Andy Wyzavich at end.

The final score was Lincoln-Way 33 -- Bremen 0. The Knights meet Rich this week-end in the final game of the season. A win will enable Lincoln-Way to finish fifth and at the beginning of the season the SWS coaches picked the Knights to finish last.

Voters To Elect County And State Officers On Tuesday

Voters of Will county will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect seven county officers and register their preference in state and district races.

So far as any local races are concerned the only issue appears to be party politics--who is going to get the most votes --the Republicans or the Democrats?

The time honored claims of victory have been made by each of chieftans of both major parties and the candidates are now making last minute appeals for votes while committeemen are getting the machinery ready for getting out the vote.

In the Will county races chief interest appears to be centered on three--sheriff, treasurer and county clerk.

The Republican candidate for sheriff, Roy C. Doerfler, has served this county as such before and is now seeking re-election. Doerfler has made a career out of law enforcement and is a graduate of two schools operated by the FBI. At present he is winding up a term as county treasurer. Doerfler has been a popular candidate his previous campaigns for sheriff and treasurer show.

His Democratic opponent is Joseph Trizna, former chief of police of Joliet with a long service as patrolman, sergeant and captain. This will be the first time Trizna has sought elective office so there is nothing on which to judge his capability as a vote getter.

In the treasurer contest James Bell, Joliet who has previously served as such, is running on the Republican ticket against Leo Waldvogel, of Joliet Democrat. Bell also has served the city of Joliet as a councilman.

The county clerk's race is reported to be a hot one with John Houlihan, of Park Forest, a Democrat, opposing Clara Hartley Woodard, of Joliet, present chief deputy county clerk under her father, Joseph H. Hartley. Hartley was not a candidate for re-election because of ill health.

Mrs. Woodard is the first woman to seek county office in a general election in Will county. Joliet township has gone Democratic in general elections for many years but the county areas have piled up enough Republican votes to swing the election except for occasional individual candidates.

In the other county race John C. Cowing Republican, is seeking re-election to the county bench. He is opposed by Angelo Pistilli, Democrat, of Rockdale. Stewart C. Hutchison, Republican, incumbent probate judge is opposed by Raymond Harvey, Joliet.

Ellsworth B. Workman, Republican, seeking re-election as probate clerk, is opposed by Eugene F. Duff, Joliet.

Verne E. Crackel, Republican, seeking re-election county superintendent of schools, is opposed by Bruce D. Cheadle, of Lockport.

There is no contest for state representative. Warren L. Wood and Meade Baltz, Republicans, and Francis J. Loughran Democrat are assured of re-election since there are but three candidates running for the three places open.

Harris W. Fawell, Republican and George Simon, Democrat, both of DuPage county, are seeking the seat now held by State Senator Lottie Holman O' Neill who did not seek re-nomination in the primary.

Will and DuPage counties now make up the 14th congressional district and Elmer J. Hoffman, the incumbent, is opposed by Jerome M. Ziegler, both of DuPage county.

Paul V. Wunder, Joliet, Republican, up for re-election as clerk of the appellate court, second district is opposed by Emmett J. Slingsby, Democrat.

The people of Illinois will also elect a United States senator with the incumbent, Everett McKinley Dirksen, Republican, opposed by Sidney R. Yates, the choice of Mayor Daley of Chicago.

Also to be elected are a state treasurer, William J. Scott (R) or Francis S. Lorenz (D); superintendent of public instruction, Ray Page (R) or George T. Wilkins (D) the incumbent or James P. Alexander (D).

Three university trustees are to be elected and voters have two special ballots to mark--the Blue Ballot which deals with the proposed amendment of the judicial article and another dealing with an amendments to the state banking act.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

L-W Board Not Interested In Junior College Plan

During the regular meeting of the Lincoln-Way board of education Supt. A. Hunter Chapman read an invitation from Supt. William French of Joliet high, to attend a preliminary junior college meeting held yesterday Wednesday, (Oct. 31).

County Supt. of Schools Verne E. Crackel is cooperating with Dr. French in determining the general interest in the county relative to this major educational problem.

The Lincoln - Way Board stated they were not in favor of pursuing the problem any further until more favorable junior college legislation is enacted by the Illinois general assembly. It was pointed out during the discussion that with the present Lincoln-Way building needs that the entire attention and support of the local citizens should be directed to meeting this crisis.

Supt. Chapman was instructed to inform the county superintendent's office relative to the present position of the local school board.

The question arose during this discussion regarding the status of the original junior college organization. It was pointed out that when the proposition was defeated in June that this in itself terminated the plan and proposal. Any new program whether it be in Will county or in any other Illinois community would have to be completely reactivated with the initial support coming from the public rather than from the high school board of education.

It was recently pointed out during a meeting of Illinois superintendents that the Illinois school problems committee had been instructed to recommend to the general assembly that favorable legislation be introduced for more state support rather than local support of the junior college in Illinois.

George Abraham has been invited by Commonwealth Edison Co. to attend the 1962 National Youth Conference on Atoms on Nov. 8 thru 10 at the Sheraton-Chicago hotel, Mr. Abraham is chairman of science at Lincoln-Way High School.

PRINCIPAL SPEAKERS at the Ann Rutledge Dedication Program, Sunday, November 11, will be Verne E. Crackel, superintendent of Will county public schools (left) and John Van Donk (right) retired president of the Ann Rutledge school board. At the school's annual testimonial banquet, Mr. Van Donk was presented with the Ann Rutledge service award for continuous board service from 1953 through 1962. During that time, Mr. Van Donk served 8 years as president of the board. The school's construction improvement program was started during his tenure as president.

The Ann Rutledge dedication program will be held from 2:00 to 2:30 p.m. An open house will follow until 5:30 p.m. The dedication program on Nov. 11 will mark observance in Lincoln Estates of American Education Week.

Three Mokena Residents Injured In 2-Car Crash

Five persons were injured, three of whom are residents of Mokena, in a two-car collision early Sunday morning on U.S. 45 at 123rd street, Palos Park.

Three of the five are being treated at Christ Community hospital, Oak Lawn.

The two drivers, Anthony Mango, 27, of 1710 61st street, Downers Grove, and Gus Steinmetz, 56, of Mokena, were treated for cuts and bruises at Christ Community hospital and released.

Hospitalized are Shirley Mango, wife of Anthony; Gertrude Steinmetz, wife of Gus Steinmetz, and Donald Sands, operator of Sands tavern on Wolf road, a passenger in the Steinmetz car.

According to state troopers from police District 4, who investigated the accident, Mango was north bound and Steinmetz southbound on U.S. 45. At 123rd street Steinmetz made a left turn, according to the report, and was struck broadside by the Mango car. Steinmetz was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

Steinmetz complains of chest injuries. The injured were removed to the hospital in a Worth fire department ambulance.

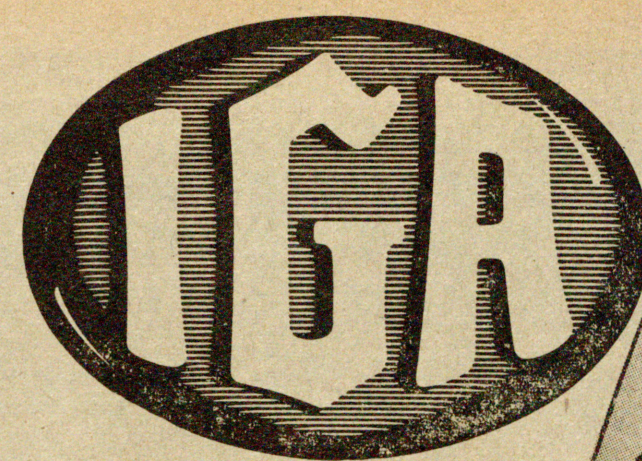

CRASH VICTIM -- The man on the stretcher about to be placed in a Worth fire department ambulance, is Donald Sands, of Mokena, one of three persons hospitalized following a two-car collision early Sunday morning at the intersection of U.S. 45 and 123rd street, Palos Park.

ALMOST A MEMORY is the sight of corn shocks on the farm scene in these parts. Today corn is either picked mechanically or cut down and stored in silos. There were some youngsters in the Mokena grade school that had never seen corn shocks -- except in pictures -- until Edwin Yunker, whose farm is just south of Mokena at the east end of town, decided to shock the corn on two small tracts this fall for special feeding purposes. A harvest picture like this is hard to come by and Photographer Bob McDonald walked out into the field where he could make the most of it against the background of farm buildings. TAKE TESTS in bike safety at Orland Center School.

Pupils At Orland Center Take Bike Safety Tests

Orland Center school pupils who ride bicycles were given instructions last week on how to manage their bikes with safety for themselves and others while using public thoroughfares.

The instructions were given by a team of experts from the Cook county traffic safety committee which is headed by County Board Chairman Seymour Simon.

First thing on the program was a lecture covering traffic laws and courtesies of the road. Many were surprised to learn that the regulations covering motor vehicles also govern bike riding.

Then the youngsters took a safety lane test, so set up as to simulate common conditions encountered by bicycle riders. Those passing were given cards certifying their proficiency and making them members of the Bicycle Safety club. A pledge to ride safely is inscribed on the card.

"The child behind the handlebars will be the man behind the wheel," is the slogan of the county group backing the bicycle safety program. John J. McCleverty is executive secretary and headquarters are located at 130 N. Wells street.

Children in all grades hear the lectures included in the course but only those old enough to ride bicycle safely -- the experts exclude those in the first two grades -- are tested.

On an average about 85% of those taking the tests are able to pass. Of those who fail about 13% are considered "borderline cases" and restricted to riding in their home areas. About 2% fail because their bikes are lacking some or all of the required accessories, such as fenders, lights, horn or reflectors.

Those failing or are under restricted use will have another chance to pass when the safety people return to the school in 1963.

The safety commission's program is credited with greatly reducing the number of accidents involving bicycles. The program is endorsed by the Bicycle Institute of America and other safety councils.

Simon points out that any success the program has enjoyed is due in a large part to the enthusiastic cooperation of school officials, teachers, PTA, village officials, police, local safety clubs, and village officials.

Assisting in the program at Orland Center were Supt. Norbert Jerling, Principal Richard Van Dyke, Police Commissioner Frank Guetter and Mrs. Robert Smith, president of the PTA unit.

250 Attend FTA Workshop

Lincoln-Way high school was host school to the annual fall workshop of the Illinois Association of Future Teachers of America on last Oct. 27.

The all day event started at 8 a.m. with registration, refreshments and tours of the high school. A total of 22 high schools participated with approximately 250 delegates in attendance.

The first general session was held in the auditorium from 9:00 to 9:45 a.m. At this time the welcome was extended to the delegates, introduction of guests was made and general announcements were given. The delegates then moved to small group discussions. Various subjects discussed in these sessions were: team teaching, teacher certification, student teaching, FTA clubs, administration, special education, automation and programmed instruction.

Luncheon was served the several hundred delegates in the school cafeteria and all purpose room.

The afternoon session began at 1 p.m. Miss Wanda Mitchell, TV Production and leadership training director, Evanston township high school, was the guest speaker. The program concluded at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Della Hussey and Art Mackay, Lincoln Way faculty members and Future Teachers club advisors, directed the day's activities.

Would Enjoin Farmer From Working Minors

(CNS) Edward Pruim, a farmer at 6202 West 127th street, Palos Heights, has been sued for an injunction in United States District court by the U. S. Department of Labor for allegedly employing children under 16 for tomato picking.

He is charged with having employed Stella Aguiler, 14 years old, and her brother, Jesse, 15 on Sept. 4.

According to Attorney Joanne H. Saunders of the Chicago Department of Labor Regional office, Pruim is the only Cook county resident sued during the present tomato picking season. There are usually several. The nearest other violation is in De Kalb, Ill.

The suit seeks only an injunction against further employment of minors. Although the tomato season is over, it would also apply in future years.

GOP Organization Of Palos To Elect Staff

The Palos Republican Women's organization will hold its November meeting on the second Tuesday of the month, Nov. 13, at the Community Center Foundation, Southwest highway, Palos Park. Due to the general election, the regular meeting day has been changed for this month. A coffee hour from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Will be followed by a business meeting and program.

This will be the annual meeting and election of officers of the club, an affiliate of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women's Organizations. The local unit was organized less than two years ago and now has passed the one hundred mark in membership including women from Palos, Orland, Worth and Bremen townships.

Club members are actively engaged in many phases of the '62 campaign in behalf of Republican candidates. A large group is serving as typists, mailing clerks and receptionists in the campaign headquarters of Congressman Ed Derwinski. Others are making door-to-door visits to explain Republican issues. Many are active in organizing public meetings and rallies where candidates can meet local voters. In addition, cars and drivers will be available on election day to assist voters in going to the polls. These activities are being coordinated through the efforts of Mrs. John Brown, campaign manager, Mrs. S. Walker Findley, president, and Mrs. H. D. Bowyer, vice president. A resume of this work will be given at the Nov. 13th meeting.

Mrs. Clarence Smith, ways and means chairman, will detail plans for the second Autumn Ball which the organization will sponsor on Nov. 16 at Willowbrook.

NI-Gas To Lower Bills Next Year

Gas bills for Northern Illinois Gas Company customers will be reduced as the result of a pipeline rate reduction and a refund of approximately $3,900,000 NI-Gas expects to receive in about 30 days from one of its suppliers, Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America.

The reduction and the refund, according to H. E. Ford, NI-Gas vice president, will apply to all NI-Gas customers. Residential customers using gas for space heating will save an average of about $5 over the next 12 months.

Ford said this reduction is in addition to the previously announced $1,000,000 rate reduction NI-Gas will make beginning Dec. 1.

Band Boosters Launch Annual Sale of Decals

The Lincoln-Way Band Boosters annual decal vehicle stickers drive go on sale this month according to Conrad Mark, ways and means chairman at a recent Boosters meeting. The decals will be distributed to the communities comprising the Lincoln-Way district by a chairman from each who will supervise the mailing of the stickers to area residents.

In the past the decals have borne the name of the village of the purchasers. This year the names of Arbury Hills and Lincoln-Estates are added to the list. Residents residing in the two areas will be given the opportunity to purchase their individual community stickers and at the same time help the band.

Proceeds from the sale will be added to the band treasury fund for operating expenses.

The first fall concert of the school year will be given the latter part of November, the date to be announced later.

After some discussion members voted to reduce the dues from $1 per meeting to a dollar a year per parent whose children are in band.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR

Will County Superintendent Of Schools

"The foundation of every state is the education of its youth." --Diogenes

A Candidate for this Office must submit a Master's Degree, a State Supervisory Certificate, and recent Educational Employment. In addition, I have a State Special Life Supervisory Certificate for Industrial Arts, Chicago Certificates Elementary through High School, Doctoral work in the University of Chicago, Northwestern, and Loyola; with forty years experience in schools of Joliet, Chicago, and Jackson, Michigan, on Elementary, Junior High, Senior High, and Continuation levels. Lifetime resident of Lockport, my Civic Services encompass: Secretary of Centennial Celebration, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and Desplains Valley Assn. 26 years, Zoning Commission, Board 7 years; Chairman of first two Birthday Balls with attendant White House Reception; Newspaper Editor, etc.

While the County Schools Superintendent Office is not a centralized authority, it should furnish leadership and precept. I shall endeavor to fulfill such functions. I believe importance of Primary Grades is neglected with resultant failures in high school no remedial plans will rectify. Primary Teachers, whose classes should be small, are not sufficiently recognized. The drop-out problem may originate there for many children who need more personal attention early, especially in reading. In the field of my special qualification, Industrial Arts, many youth whose livelihoods will depend upon manual skills are not guided into courses to acquaint them with combined uses of minds and hands, and the honor of labor. For either college- or business-bound, shorthand and typing are invaluable. Cooking and sewing are home-making essentials. Reading is universally indispensable. To such matters I shall devote time, attention, and leadership.

"We Pledge Allegiance..."

While the Cuban situation has caused concern among area residents, one has not encountered fear or any signs of hysteria.

There has been so much tension in the world, so many crises that people apparently have come to take them in stride. Thus, when the President declared an embargo on the shipment of weapons and materials of war to Cuba where the Russians have been building missile bases and declared that any shot fired from that island at the United States would be considered an act of war by the Soviet Union against this county and retaliation would follow, the declaration did not cause any of our people to press the panic button.

It caused considerable concern but mixed with this appeared to be a feeling of relief. The Reds have been threatening us and the remainder of the western world with war for many years. Uncle Sam has been the "nice guy," the one who would live in peace and quiet with his neighbors; a retiring sort of chap who appeared to be ready to accept almost any kind of situation if such acceptance would serve to avoid a scene. This turning the other cheek business wears out in time, however.

Our people were becoming restless. How much of this stuff do we have to take, many were asking. We can be pushed so far, others said, but no one came up with the limit until the President spoke last week. We have had it -- we have been pushed far enough, he said ineffectually, and while Uncle Sam is still a "nice guy," it has been shown on occasion that nice guys can be tough guys too, and pretty mean and nasty in a fight.

It is a relief to know that we are prepared to make our stand. None of us want war but if war is to come then let us be prepared and ready.

We can't imagine that Krushchev would be such a fool as to place a nuclear weapon at the disposal of such lunatics as govern Cuba. We don't believe Krushchev wants a nuclear war any more than any member of the family of western nations. He would like to rule the world but not necessarily wreck it.

He knows that if a nuclear bomb or missile is hurled at the United States, Russia and the Russian controlled countries would fare the same fate so the end result would be the end of the civilized world. There would be no winners in such a war. There would be some people survive the blasts themselves only to face the difficulty of surviving a constant battle against the forces of nature in a primitive, lethally infected radio-active world.

The feeling one encounters is that the United States has done something now that should have been done sometime ago -- make our stand.

And now is that a decision has been made, an ultimatum-issued, it is the duty of us all to back our President and present a united front to our foes.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

We noticed in the papers recently that England is giving some consideration to shelving its weight, measurement and monetary tables and adopting the metric and decimal systems.

It is possible that the English government might do that very thing but we doubt that the people would make use of it. The metric system enjoys legal status in the United States but outside of laboratories and scientific research establishments it is seldom used.

Followers of the sports pages probably see more of it than do those who confine most of their reading to straight news and features. When stories about the Olympics begin to make their appearance then one is confronted with the task of translating meters into yards and feet and ending up not quite sure of the result.

American foot soldiers who have slogged their way along the roads of Europe found the distances marked in kilometers, thus necessitating some paper work before arriving at the number of miles, covered in a day or a march. According to the horse players a kilometer is five furlongs, give or take a length, and any racegoer knows that a furlong is an eighth of a mile.

It is all right if one is satisfied with kilometers. Then he could say, "Well, I walked 35 kilometers today," and let it go at that. But a mile man isn't satisfied.

"Alright," he says to himself, "I walked 35 kilometers, but how far did I walk? Is it far enough that I should be exhausted or just a little tired?"

But if he says: "Hm-m, lets see now 35--hm-m, hey that is practically 22 miles! Oh brother! Hey, somebody help me tie my feet on so they don't drop off."

We hope the English don't switch to the metric system. After years of reading books and articles that include the English scene we have gotten familiar with its pound, shillings and pence. The British throw a curve, however, on weight--not bacon or beef but the human body. In Britain, for some reason, human weight is expressed in stones rather than pounds--perhaps to avoid confusion with the money. We don't know but it is as aggravating as kilograms. One is reading along about Sir So and So whose body sey, etc., who have already adopted a modern judicial system.

ON CUBA

Dear Sir:
The fact, that Cuba possessed weapons classified as offensive, was known for several months yet our state and defense (Sunder) departments refused to officially recognize this to be true. Finally, those who (mis) advise the President have allowed him to admit that Castro is armed with missiles capable of reaching all of Central America part of South America, a portion of Canada and the entire United States except the North-West.

Isn't it a coincidence that the decision, to do something about this menace, was made just two weeks before the Election? This was another unscrupulous Campaign strategy not too unlike the vote stealing in 1960.

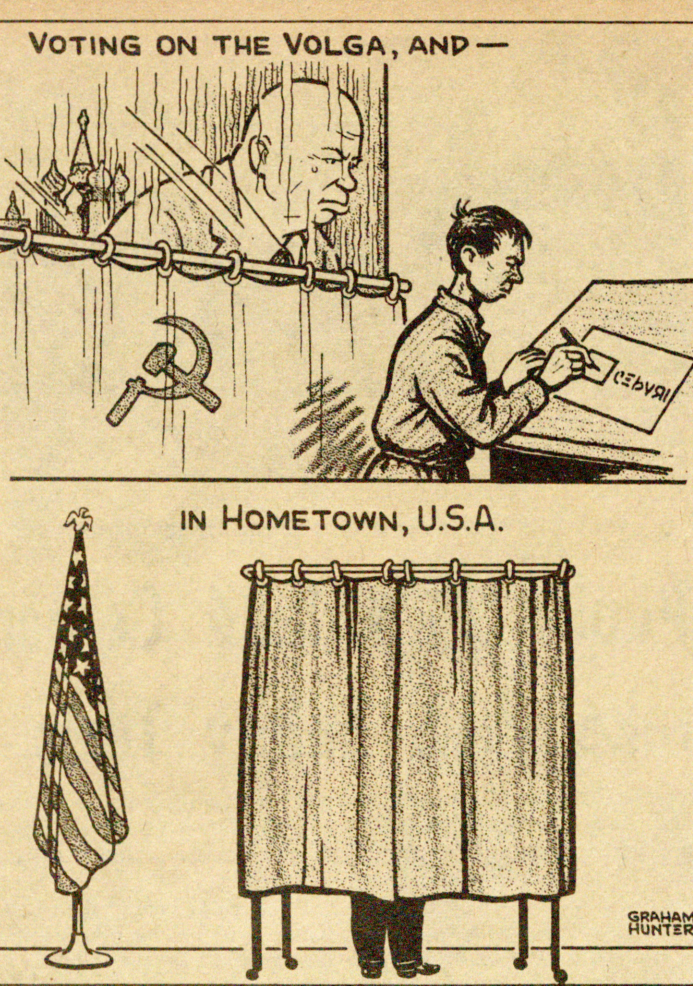

Most Congressmen stayed in Washington until Congress adjourned. After spending a week on the campaign trail, some were recalled to Washington for an indefinite period. Could it be, that JFK and the "Gang" planned the recognition of this crisis, in order to "shackle" such men as Senator Dirksen? In the meantime, his RUBBER STAMPING opponent finishes his BARNSTORMING which was started two months ago when he too was supposed to be in congress?

Senator Dirksen has a CONSERVATIVE voting record of 78% while his opponent boasts of voting LIBERAL 97% of the time. These figures should be sufficient to help Voters decide who deserves their support. The REPUBLICANS offer only CONSERVATIVES and men who will restore sane, sensible, secure and HONEST administration of government on all levels, County, State and Federal.

Protect the future of The United States, your children and yourself by voting STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN on November 6th.

Patriotically yours,

Henry W. Hicks

has just been found in a sealed room and discovers he was a man that weighed 14 stone. This, of course, is the least interesting fact and there are some exciting things that are just being unfolded but you can't give them proper attention because there you are trying to remember if a stone is equivalent to 14 pounds avoirdupois and if so what is 14 times 14.

The English use the same table for liquid measure that we do and we believe a change to litres would not fit. Can you imagine reading about an English character dropping into the Dog and Bush for a half litre of bitter instead of a pint of beer, or a pint of 'alf-and-'alf, or a pint of porter or a pint of something in the malt and hop line.

We imagine that they have a lighter hand in pouring whiskey. We haven't read at least of anyone ordering a pint of spirits or gin with the idea of sitting down and eventually getting the stuff under hatches.

On the other hand we do not recall any mention of a jigger or any other measuring device is dealing out whiskey among the Brits. One reads of Sir So-and-So pouring a "generous amount," "A stiff dose," or simply and vaguely "added whiskey to a glass and a splash of soda."

It seems that they don't go in too heavy with the water. "A splash" or "a dash" being the most popular amounts. When it comes to mixing it with whiskey. When the British drink water, according to the books it is in tea and from the looks of the stuff there is little dilution there either.

We think that "pint" is a good word. It calls up a satisfying image. A pint of beer, for instance, presents a pleasing picture--not too little, not too much to sit down to, whereas a quart would be unappetizing. Maybe you will drink a quart or two quarts but it seems to go better ter and is not so filling in pints. And certainly a pint of any of the pops or cola drinks should satisfy even a teenager.

Therefore whyfore do the advertising geniuses who write the copy for TV, radio, newspapers and magazines avoid the word pint. It would seem that they have banded together for the specific purpose of eliminating the word pint from the English language. The word now is half-quart. Apparently someone has decided that half-quart sounds larger than a pint and that there are enough gluttons in the country to make it worth while. We don't know about that but we can see that the copywriters can accomplish a great deal in making us gluttons. They are showing the half quarts at us know and if we aren't on guard, the quarts will come next.

Thinking of sodapop or colas in pints is filling enough but the idea of putting it down in half quarts is revolting.

We have heard people talk of drinking coffee in gallons but never saw anyone do it. And speaking of gallons--don't ask what a gallon is in the metric system. .hm-m, let's see, there are about 30 cubic centimeters in a fluid ounce and 128 ounces to the ga. .speaking about gallons the English have one that is really a big, big gallon--the imperial gallon. The imperial gallon and the standard gallon are like the guinea and the sovereign in the money table.

Let us hope that the English tables remain English. It wouldn't be the same to have Inspector So-and-So of Scotland Yard--in line of duty, of course--stop in at the village pub and order a half-litre of beer. If they are going to do away with pints let's be done with it, let's get rid of the beer.

It would be nice to see the pint come back into use in the U.S. too get rid of these half-quarts. They are a nuisance.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL
ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

Falling leaves are the sure sign that tree planting time is here. If you have lost some elm trees, or if you are in a newly built home, now is the time to put in the trees which will provide beauty and shade in the years to come.

Select your trees from a reliable nursery. Our good nurserymen are proud of their products and will not hesitate to provide a guarantee for your tree.

When considering what size to buy, keep in mind that the larger the tree, the sooner you will have shade. But also remember, whatever the size of the tree it is usually to your advantage to buy the tree balled and burlaped, (B and B) rather than bare root. Balled trees lose fewer roots, so they suffer less setback and begin to grow sooner after planting.

Since your tree will lose some roots whether balled or bare rooted, it will have to lose some branches in the top to balance the top and root areas.

By pruning the top you will eliminate any dieback which could destroy the shape of your tree. Remove about 1/3 of the branches in the crown. This will effectively thin the crown but will not reduce the size or change the shape of your tree.

Dig a hole large enough for the roots of your tree. Set the tree with its best side the way you will see it most often, and at the same depth as it grew in the nursery. Back-fill with good topsoil about halfway, and firm down soil. Then water; watering will exclude the air pockets. Fill the rest of the hole, stamp soil firmly in place, and then add more water. Be sure to leave a dish or basin in the soil to make watering next year easier.

After this job is done, stake the tree so that winds won't tear roots from the soil. Then wrap tree spirally with burlap from ground level to the point where limbs leave the trunk.

While you have your shears out it is a good time to prune trees and fall blooming shrubs. Thin out about one-fourth of the oldest branches of the shrubs and cut back the remaining branches to a good size shoot or bud. Remove the least desirable of any branches on the trees.

Avoid narrow V-crotches on the trees. When one begins to develop, cut off one of the branches. Remove sucker growth on the inner portions of the large branches.

When removing large branches, cut upward (under cut) the branch three inches from the trunk. Then cut downward six inches from the trunk. When the branch falls, it will not split the trunk. Remove the remaining stub by cutting as close to the tree as possible. Tree wounds always heal from the outside in. Because of this an elliptical, vertical wound will heal faster than a round one. Paint any large wounds with asphalt base tree paint.

An excellent bulletin on pruning trees and shrubs is available free of charge from the University of Illinois Extension Service Office, 201 North Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Bagworms cause considerable damage to evergreens, trees and shrubs in this area.

MORE STRONTIUM IN VEGETABLES THAN IN MILK AND MEAT

Because vegetables cannot filter out radioactive strontium the way cows can, vegetables contain more radioactive elements than milk or beef, Dr. J.H. Rust told veterinarians attending the recent University of Illinois Conference and Extension Short Course for Veterinarians. Dr. Rust, a veterinary pharmacologist and radiobiologist, is head of the Section of Nuclear Medicine at the University of Chicago.

The cow has been unfairly incriminated in the transmission of radioactive strontium, cesium and iodine, Dr. Rust said. These elements are found everywhere and have become incorporated in foodstuffs of every living sort.

According to Dr. Rust, the cow serves as a very effective filter for two radioactive elements--iodine and strontium. At least half of the radioiodine is filtered out and does not reach the milk, Dr. Rust said. Only a fifth of the iodine remains in the meat.

The cow's filtering process is even greater for radioactive strontium, Dr. Rust continued. Only a tenth of the strontium appears in the milk, and only a fortieth in the meat.

The cow does not filter out cesium, however, so milk and meat contain about the same ratio of cesium as the cow takes in, Dr. Rust said. There is an indirect protection, though, as the cow consumes only the radicesium that falls directly upon the vegetation she eats. The cesium that is washed into the soil is tightly bound, and consequently cesium is not present in the regrowth of pastures.

Dr. Rust concluded, "It is clear, then, that it is much better to feed our children milk and meat than vegetables if we want to protect them from radioiodine or radiostrontium. This is borne out by clinical studies and field studies where people maintained themselves on vegetable diets, notably the studies in Japan."

Dr. Rust also said the chance that radioactive elements may cause cancer of the thyroid or leukemia has been exaggerated. "There is one chance in a quarter of a billion that an individual will develop leukemia in any one year of his life because of the fallout radioactivity at the present levels," he estimated.

Since there are two billion people inhabiting the earth, only eight people in the world will develop leukemia each year from the present level of fallout.

The chance of radioactive elements causing cancer of the thyroid is slightly greater, Dr. Rust said.

COMMON MARKET DEVELOPMENT AFFECTS FUTURE EXPORT PROSPECTS

Agricultural production and policy decisions made by the European common market countries may have far-reaching effects on future U.S. exports of farm products.

High wheat production in the common market countries could affect U.S. exports of both hard and soft wheat. Soft wheat exports seem likely to decrease. The future of hard wheat exports is more uncertain. If wheat prices remain near present levels in the importing countries, higher wheat production, particularly in France, will displace supplies coming from outside countries.

Yet some of the present wheat acreage in these countries might be shifted to feed grains. If this should happen, wheat imports could go up.

U.S. feed grain producers face increasing competition from production in the common market countries as well as from Eastern Europe and South America. However, it appears that feed grain demand will rise faster than production in the common market countries, so they will still need to buy some grain abroad. At best, however, U.S. barley and corn exports will not exceed the present volume.

The common market countries produce about all the meat they need. As a group, these countries have a small surplus of pork. But if recent production and consumption trends continue, they will need to import some beef and veal.

Oilseeds and vegetable oils offer the best export opportunity for U.S. agricultural products. Production of these products cannot be readily increased within the common market, expected tariffs will be negligible and exports from other countries are not likely to be expanded.

Bye, Bye Blackbird

Washington--Senator

Harrison A. Williams, Jr. has introduced legislation which would provide $250,000 to start a nationwide blackbird control program.

Williams said the blackbirds were destroying "hundreds of thousands of dollars" of New Jersey crops.

"The problem is national in scope," he said, "since blackbirds are no observers of state lines. To compound the problem, these birds are no longer frightened by the traditional scarecrow."

Bet You Can't Name The Man

A notable, quotable comment from Donald J. Hardenbrook, president, National Association of Manufacturers:

"Casting a ballot on Election Day and then complaining about the state of things for the remaining 364 days is a far cry from responsible citizenship."

"If you want to have some fun and be shocked at the same time, ask a cross-section of people if they know the name of their Congressman."

NOTE FOR PLANTERS

In fall, mature bagworms can be identified by their gray, spindle shaped sacks, securely attached to twigs and branches of the plants. Within these sacks are the eggs of the bagworm. Next May, these eggs will hatch, and the young worms will begin to feed on your trees and shrubs.

An easy method of controlling these insects is to remove all the bags from the plants now, while you can see them. The bags should then be burned or otherwise destroyed.

If it is impractical to remove all the bags from the plants, of course, spraying the evergreens with lead arsenate next spring will give additional control.

While you have the fire going, pull up and burn all diseased annuals, rose leaves and other plant material which could carry diseases over winter.

AN ATTRACTIVELY furnished room of his or her own is of tremendous importance to the teen-ager, reports the Better Home Furnishings Council of Greater Chicago. For example, if she has a studio divan such as the one shown, the young lady of the house can use it to read, study, or just relax. It's likely to be used often for overnight visitors and pajama parties. A collapsible single bed frame with mattress may be pulled out from behind to provide a double bed or two single beds. The pretty floral print is just right for a feminine room. The owner of such a room can well be proud of it.

Questions And Tells How Social Security Effects Household Workers

Answers On 1961 Wheat Program

ARE MARKETING QUOTAS IN EFFECT FOR 1963?

Wheat growers approved marketing quotas in a national referendum in late August. Quotas will be based on a national allotment of 55 million acres as provided by law.

CAN PRODUCERS GET SPECIAL PAYMENTS BY GROWING LESS WHEAT?

If producers want to, they may qualify for payments by diverting from 20 to 50 percent of their allotment or 1959-61 average acreage, whichever is larger, into conservation uses. Those who participate in the program are eligible for a diversion payment.

HOW MUCH ARE THE PAYMENTS?

Payments are equal to 50 percent of the price support value of normal production on the diverted land.

WILL GROWERS GET PRICE SUPPORT IN 1963?

Those who participate in the diversion program and comply with allotments qualify for price support loans at $1.82 a bushel and a payment-in-kind of 18 cents a bushel, making a combined support of $2.

Those who decide not to participate in the diversion program and plant within their allotment can qualify for only the support rate of $1.82 a bushel.

Operators who make a diversion agreement but do not comply with it will receive no price support and no diversion payment.

COULD A FARMER MAKE MORE MONEY BY GROWING WHEAT THAN BY TAKING A DIVERSION PAYMENT?

To answer this question requires careful budgeting of what production costs, the yields that a farmer will get and the price he will receive. Some of these figures must be estimated. And of course the yields are never certain until after harvest.

University of Illinois farm management specialists who have budgeted costs and returns under normal Illinois conditions have found little income difference between those who divert acreage and those who do not. However, if 1963 yields were much below average, a farmer would find it to his advantage to divert part of his acreage.

WHERE AND WHEN DO GROWERS SIGN UP?

Illinois wheat growers have until Dec. 14 to sign up at county ASCS offices or other places they may designate.

People who are employed in private homes are urged to be sure that their employers have their correct name and social security number, according to Harold Whiteside, district manager of the Joliet Social Security office.

Whiteside explained that the taxes taken out of wages for social security are like premiums on an insurance policy. But the earnings cannot be "credited" to an individual social security account unless the name and social security number are correct. The benefits paid depend on the amount of credited earnings.

Anyone (other than a parent, spouse, or child under 21) who is employed in a private household must be reported for social security if the cash wages are $50 or more in a calendar quarter. The employer is obligated to make the tax deduction and make the necessary reports.

Some of the more frequent mistakes and misunderstandings about social security for workers in private homes are:

1. The wage earner thinks that he or she can make a self-employment report of earnings from all employers he had during the year.

2. The employer and the worker think that if they agree that there will be no social security, nothing further needs to be done.

3. The employer lets the social security report go because the wage earner did not mention it or objected to the tax.

4. The employer or the worker thought that part-time or temporary work in a household is not covered by social security.

5. Either the employer or the worker thought that workers over 65 are no longer covered by social security.

Other ranges may look as modern, but nothing cooks as modern as gas

Modern cooking means greatest convenience... only new gas ranges offer oven "controlled cooking" to cook food perfectly, then keep it warm and ready to serve for hours—automatically! Only gas ranges give automatic top burners with such accurate control of selected temperatures... make any cooking vessel, metal or glass, an automatic appliance.

Modern cooking means greatest speed... only gas gives you instant control with countless shades of heat between low and high. When you turn gas off, it's off—instantly—with no hang-over heat to raise kitchen temperatures.

Modern broiling means cleaner kitchens... only gas gives you truly smokeless broiling: you broil with the broiler door closed—the gas flame consumes greasy smoke that would otherwise escape into the kitchen.

Modern economy means more for your money... only gas ranges combine up-to-the-minute style and features with greatest economy and dependability to make your cooking simpler and surer than ever before! See the new gas ranges at your appliance dealer's or nearby Northern Illinois Gas Company Store.

ADDS COACHING coaches to coaching duties at Sandburg, does Coach Bill Adams, the man in the coat. The coaches he is coaching are to play the Harlem Magicians basketball team next Tuesday night, Nov. 6, in the Sandburg gymnasium, and that is tough assignment. The Magicians have lost only eight game out of 1,750 played in the last eight years but they put on a great show. Adams chief concern now is to sharpen the eyes of his squad so they can see the ball when it is being handled by the Magicians. In the back row (l to r) are John Weber, John Wilson, Jerry Abrahamson, Fred Koerner and Lou Gartner. (CSHS photo)

Cub Scouts Will Study Leaders Of Buckskin Era

Most of the 2,500 Cub Scouts, their adult leaders, and their Den Mothers of the Rainbow Council, Boy Scouts of America, will become acquainted this month with the rugged heroes of the nation's early wilderness trails and the old West.

The theme for the Cub Scouts for November is the Buckskin Pioneers. During four weekly den meetings Cub Scouts will learn about such pioneers as Daniel Boone, Lewis and Clark, Davy Crockett, Zebulon Pike, Kit Carson, and "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

It will require reading books about these pioneers and the making of models of early homes in the West and models of their clothing, furniture, tools, and weapons.

An old buckskin suit can be readily made by the Cub Scout next meeting will be held Saturday, Nov. 3 at the town hall with projects, glass etching or candle making the high-lite. The achievement night will be Saturday, Nov. 17. The place it is to be held will be announced at the next meeting.

The club will sponsor 2 bake sales, Saturday, Nov. 3 from 10 to 11 a.m. One will be held at the R & R Store in Frankfort and the other at the Dick Shellhorn garage in Peotone. Both sales are open to the public.

The Green Garden Home Extension association will meet at the home of Emma Knater on Friday, Nov. 9 at 1:30 p.m. Roll call will be taken with Thanksgiving Plans. The major lesson is the topic, "Christmas Feature." The chairman are Mrs. Harold Scheer and Mrs. Ralph Smith.

with an assist from his mother. They can use old brown slacks and an old shirt dyed and with fringe added. The hat is made from old fur pieces. Brown moccasins are worn. Log cabins are made from corrugated cardboard with a door and window cut out. "Logs and shingles" are outlined with paint. Two ice cream containers and a broomstick are used to make a butter churn. A split log and some pegs make a log bench. A cardboard barrel becomes a well. Oatmeal boxes pasted together to form "logs" are used in a log-rolling contest.

Models of the early homes of the buckskin pioneers are made at home by the Cub Scouts. These may include caves, dug-outs, animal-hide tents, sod houses and log cabins. As the pioneers traveled overland by foot, oxcart, horseback, and covered wagon, and on rivers by canoe, flatboat, and raft, models of these objects are also made for display at the monthly pack meeting, when all the dens meet together with their parents.

The new Cub Scouts fitness program has its part in the activities. Pioneer games include wrestling, throwing, shooting, jumping, and running. Other activities include husking bees, taffy pulls, barbecues, singing, juggling, square dancing, hog-calling contests and logrolling.

Bending machines on the streets of West Berlin are marvels of politeness. To the purchasers of cigarettes, fresh fruit, handkerchiefs and other items, a woman's tape-recorded voice murmurs, "Vielep Dank," or "Many thanks."

We Favor Cullerton

P. J. CULLERTON, the county assessor, is a career politician and one of the inner circle of the Democratic organization. The power and prosperity of this group make many people uneasy. The assessor's office is an important source of patronage and political influence.

The heaviest assault ever mounted against Cullerton was the effort of Ben Adamowski, the former state's attorney, in 1959 to obtain a legislative investigation. He charged favoritism and manipulation in tax assessment, but was unable to produce enough evidence to persuade the General Assembly.

Nevertheless, there is still some feeling that the office is excessively staffed and not as rigid as it might be in barring political cliques. It was on such general principles that the Better Government Assn. expressed a preference for Cullerton's Republican opponent, Walter E. McCarron, at the Nov. 6 election.

Despite our respect for, and usual agreement with, the recommendations of the BGA, The Daily News does not concur in this finding. Our inquiries bring the conclusion that Cullerton's service has been satisfactory. Knowledgeable observers of the office assert that its procedures have been improved and good standards of fairness maintained.

McCarron was elected coroner in 1953 after a long career in the trucking industry. He served two four-year terms, and despite a tendency toward sensationalism that sometimes verged on the eccentric, he made some extremely useful improvements in the coroner system.

In his campaign for assessor, McCarron has sought to make tax his central issue. It is a deception to suggest that the assessor could reduce the tax rate. That official fixes a valuation of property for assessment; McCarron's campaign statements seem to us equally irresponsible.

Since the record shows that Cullerton has improved the office procedures, and Daily News recommends re-election.

For Barrett, Cullerton

TWO OF THE MOST important offices in Cook county are those of county clerk and county assessor. Our choice for county clerk is the Democratic incumbent, Edward J. Barrett; and for county assessor we prefer P. J. Cullerton, who is also the holder of the office and also a Democrat. Both of these men have remarkable records of public service.

Don't Blame The Assessor

There is a rising grumble in Cook county about taxes. The people have registered their opinion in various tests of sentiment at the polls, and the politicians have tuned in on the discussions to see just how much static might be raised in this fall's election.

Some see a taxpayer revolt, aimed at nearly anyone, or everyone, in public office regardless of party. Others are predicting that the reaction will come only against the Democrats because they associate their tax complaints with the party in power, not with politicians in general.

In fact, of course, either path would be lacking in logic and discrimination. High and rising government costs are not assumed by mass nurseries in public offices. They are a result of more and more demands for services—demands from the property taxpayers themselves in many cases.

An example of the danger inherent in unreasoning revolt can be found in Cook county, and in a spot very important to the taxpayer—the county assessor's office. P. J. Cullerton has conducted that office in a manner that has earned praise from citizens groups and watchdog organizations. It would be most unfair to associate his work with the tax situation in general.

The assessor does not establish tax rates. He does not set up governmental budgets which require those rates. He does not levy taxes. He does not collect them. What he does, really, is to guard against property taxes being levied too high.

Barrett's Republican opponent is George A. Higgins, a lawyer and a partner in a real estate and insurance agency. He was an independent Republican candidate for the Municipal Court. We see no reason for replacing Barrett with Higgins.

The office of county assessor fixes the valuation of property, real estate and personal property, for tax purposes. It has no responsibility for the amount of taxes spent by the various local agencies. As readers of this page know, we believe that the present constitutional requirements on taxes are unrealistic. Until the Constitution is amended, the office of assessor must be run on a basis for more equity than if the tax law were applied strictly. For example, in Cook county, real estate is assessed at about 35 percent of market value, most personal property of individuals is assessed even less.

Higgins has administered the office (the law) for many years as an assessor. Cullerton has a good background in his present job.

Special Defense Drills Of No Use Now, Says Cook County CD Director

(CNS) If Cook county comes under attack or a serious emergency arises, Civil Defense Director Joseph A. Downey believes that plans developed over the past fourteen years will be adequate. No unusual activities have been undertaken by his office during last week's Cuban crisis beyond placing the county civil defense field headquarters, at 26th and Beach St. in La Grange Park, on a 24-hour standby alert on instructions from the Illinois Civil Defense Director.

On Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 9:20 p.m. a two-man round-the-clock vigil was begun at headquarters. Working in four hour shifts the office has been constant contact with municipal civil defense officials, said Downey. Instructions from the state office were, "to assume the capability to receive an alert."

In addition, two men from the sheriff's office have been on duty at the headquarters.

No civil defense demonstrations or drills are planned by Downey, who says he is opposed to them during this time of emergency, since they would alarm people. "We have been holding demonstrations for years and no useful purpose could be served by having them now," he said.

This policy is in contrast to that of nearby DuPage county, where "Operation Disaster", a demonstration of community wide coordinated emergency operation is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 2, in Elmhurst.

Asked if any particular new effort is being made by his office to inform parents of measures to be taken to safeguard schoolchildren in case of an emergency, Downey said responsibility for this lies with Robert Hayes, Assistant Superintendent of Schools for the county, who is in charge of civil defense. No new county-wide program for instructing parents is planned, according to Hayes' office.

However, principals of suburban schools have been asked to attend the national meetings of the National Safety Council this week at the Hamilton Hotel in Chicago. Special sessions on fall-out shelters and emergency safety measures in case of nuclear attack are planned for school officers.

Present instructions for schools are that children are to be sent to the safest place in the school during an alert. Principals are to decide, on the basis of information to be broadcast over CONALRAD, the civil defense radio station, whether or not to send children home.

Heads of the Cook county departments are being instructed to report immediately upon hearing the sirens of an alert to the nearest county warehouse, from which they will help direct the county emergency operation, said Downey. The four county warehouses are in Blue Island, La Grange Park, Mount Prospect, and Des Plaines. Ninety civil defense mobile units are available, he said.

The field office in La Grange Park is housed in 50x50 square foot vault built above the ground but constructed to withstand a nuclear blast. The structure houses the vital communications center for the county and supplies for about a hundred persons who will be required to direct the civil defense operations.

Mr. Downey said that every village in Cook county has a civil defense director who has been instructed to develop a civil defense plan according to the recommendations of the Illinois Civil Defense Agency.

Principals are to decide, on

SEMMLER NEWSPAPERS
Section 1, Page 11 Thursday, November 1, 1962

Civil defense outside the municipalities will be directed by Downey's office in conjunction with the Sheriff's police.

Only in the event of an all-out emergency would an alert be made to the civilian population, said Downey. Wednesday night's call was strictly within the Civil Defense structure.

Just what a voter who switches parties from time to time can and cannot do legally has been outlined by Attorney General William G. Clark in an opinion given to State's Attorney James L. Foreman of Massac county.

Clark's opinion said that a voter who voted at the Republican primary in April, 1960, and has not voted in a political primary since that date, is eligible to vote in the April 1962 Democratic primary. He also was eligible, the opinion said, to sign a Democratic primary petition for the April 1962 primary.

Clark's opinion said further that a voter who signed a Democratic primary petition for the April 1962 primary cannot vote in the Republican primary. The opinion pointed out that the statutes provide that a primary elector who votes at a statewide primary is prohibited from voting at the primary of another political party for a period of 23 months.

As Illinois regular statewide primaries are held every 24 months in April, Clark's opinion said, it follows that an elector can change his affiliation at each statewide primary if he participates in no political primaries in the interim.

Will County G.O.P. Fights To Hold County Supremacy

At the Tuesday election, Will County Republicans will be fighting to hold their supremacy in the county and in the courthouse.

On the local level, four candidates are seeking re-election with one present office holder seeking to be named Sheriff for the second time. A chief deputy county clerk, the lone woman on the local ticket, is working to be named to the office held by her father for a number of years. A one-time treasurer is striving to be returned to that office.

Clara B. Woodard Seeks Will County Clerk's Office

Clara Hartley Woodard, 511 N. Reed St., Joliet, a republican, who has been a deputy county clerk and office manager in the office of her father, County Clerk, Joseph H. Hartley for the last 23 years, is seeking the office of County Clerk of Will County.

She has worked in all and supervised many of these departments; and through her efforts and thorough supervision she has modernized many of these departments, including the card index files of vital statistics records.

Through her efforts, Will county was one of the first in the state to school election judges before each election (the Legislature in 1961 has now made this compulsory). Clara has worked with all election judges striving to improve election procedure both for the public and election judges.

Born in Torino, Will county (near Braidwood), she was educated in the Joliet grade schools and is a graduate of Joliet Township high school.

More so than ever, the GOP has been carrying the campaign to the precinct level with emphasis on neighborhood meetings and "Koffee Klatches." Under the direction of C. H. Peterson, chairman of the Will County Republican Central Committee, the party is making an all out effort to keep the courthouse Republican. He issued a reminder that Nov. 3 is the deadline for absentee voting.

Newcomer to the county ticket, at least in recent years, is James C. Bell, of 219 Richards Street, Joliet, who is in the insurance business and real estate. He is a candidate for treasurer, an office he held in 1938-42. Since then, he served a four year term as city councilman in Joliet. Bell, 62, is a veteran of both World War I and II, having service with the Navy first, and the Marine Corps during the second war. He is a former member of both the Joliet grade and high school bands. Married to the former Marion Allen, they have three children.

Mrs. Clara Hartley Woodard, of Joliet, who has been working with her father, County Clerk Joseph H. Hartley, since he was elected to office 24 years ago, is seeking to succeed him. Mrs. Woodard has been office manager and in recent years has been chief deputy county clerk. Her husband, Milo, is a dispatcher for the Public Service Co. Mrs. Woodard is an avid campaigner and frequently sets the pace for the other members of the GOP team.

County Treasurer Roy C. Doerflinger of 15 Earl St., Joliet, is seeking to be renamed to the sheriff's post he held immediately prior to his election to his present office. For 17 years, he was affiliated with the Sheriff's Office, serving as sheriff for six years. (Under Illinois law, a sheriff or a treasurer cannot succeed himself in office.) A graduate of the FBI National Police Academy, he worked for several local industries prior to beginning his police career. Married to the former Mabel Dent, he has two children, a son and a daughter, both of whom are married.

Seeking to be returned to their respective offices are County Judge John C. Cowing of Cherry Hill; Probate Judge Stewart C. Hutchison, of 703 Western Ave., Joliet; Probate Clerk E. B. Workman, 601 Cowles, Joliet, and County Superintendent of Schools Verne E. Crackel of 24 S. Reed St., Joliet, and formerly of Crete.

Judge Cowing was elected in 1946, following in the footsteps of his father and brother who served as county judges also. A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, he practiced law here with his brother, the late Glen L. Cowing, a County judge. Married to the former Gwendolyn Spangler of Plainfield, they have one daughter.

Judge Hutchison is completing his second four-year term of office. During World War II, he served with the U.S. Navy holding the rank of lieutenant commander. A graduate of Kent College of Law in Chicago, he earned his law degree in 1934. Married to the former Virginia McCoy, they have two sons.

Workman has been clerk of the probate court since 1950. Prior to that he was Joliet town clerk for four years. A veteran employee of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Co., he was employed in the transportation department there as a clerk for some 40 years before entering public life. Prominent in civic campaigns, he is a former secretary of the Joliet Bowling Association. He and his wife, the former Esther Krans, have one son.

Supt. Crackel has been working with the Will County schools for 34 years, starting as a teacher in elementary schools in Eastern Will County, then advancing to high school work. Subsequently, he became a school principal, a high school principal and then, the superintendent of the Crete-Monee Unit school system when it was organized. He has a master's degree from the University of Chicago and in 1940, was issued a life supervisory certificate. He and his wife, Mildred, have two daughters. He has served at the head of the county schools for nine years.

With election day fast approaching, the entire ticket is campaigning throughout the county at rallies and neighborhood meetings.

Bet You Can't Name The Man

A notable, quotable comment from Donald J. Hardenbrook, president, National Association of Manufacturers:

"Casting a ballot on Election Day and then complaining about the state of things for the remaining 364 days is a far cry from responsible citizenship."

"If you want to have some fun and be shocked at the same time, ask a cross-section of people if they know the name of their Congressman."

RECOMMENDATION—Don A. Moore, left, Republican candidate for second district state representative, received the Better Government Association's recommendation for election Nov. 6. Making the presentation was George E. Mahin, right, executive director. Moore is teamed with Terrel E. Clarke as Republican candidates for state representatives, Illinois second representative district.

Bruce D. Cheadle Running For Will County School Post

Bruce D. Cheadle of Lockport is candidate for Will County Superintendent of Schools. With the exception of a year spent teaching in Jackson, Mich., he has been a lifelong resident of Lockport and Will County.

Cheadle is a graduate of Lockport Township high school where he inaugurated the first school newspaper of the then new school during a post-graduate year. He studied engineering at Lewis Institute (now IIT) in Chicago for almost two years, later transferring his credits to the University of Chicago where he was granted a Ph.B. in 1937. A year later he obtained his M.A. in Education from Northwestern University and was admitted to study for the Doctorate. He did further post-graduate work at Northwestern, Loyola, and the University of Chicago in educational fields.

He had entered teaching before receiving his baccalaureate under special certificates in Chicago because he possessed printing trade skills needed there in an expanding industrial arts program, teaching in both elementary and high schools.

He then taught a year in Jackson, Mich., intermediate schools, establishing a new printing department there. Plagued by an eye affliction, he returned home and taught a year in Joliet public schools at the old Central School industrial center, but returned to Chicago Public schools in 1924, where he has taught in elementary, junior high (abolished in 1933) senior high, and continuation schools ever since, being assigned to Englewood high school the last 34 years, where he has been technical department chairman 10 years and was year book advisor for 16 years. He is senior teacher of the school and reaches official retirement next July, although he may continue on emeritus teaching for five more years.

The candidate's qualifications for office include a State Life High School Supervisory Certificate, a State Life Special Certificate for supervising Industrial Arts, and a General High School Certificate of the Board of Education of Chicago, in addition to his academic degrees.

Cheadle is a member of Lockport Lodge 538 AF & AM. He was a founder and has been secretary of the Lockport Civic and Commerce Association for 26 years. He was a founder and has been secretary-treasurer of DesPlaines Valley Improvement Association for 25, and was a founder of the famous Goodwill Dinners each Fall now attended by over 500.

Cheadle's teaching contacts and experience have run from the kindergarten through all phases of primary and secondary public schools including the problems of continuation schools in Chicago where the drop-out problem is concentrated. He believes professionally that the most important area of education today lies in kindergarten and primary teaching and facilities as preventives of the drop-out evil.

"One reason politics make such strange bedfellows is that all kinds of people enjoy the same bunk."—Lloyd S. Waters, Mountain Home (Ida.) News.

Derwinski Pushes G.O.P. Campaign In Suburbs

The Republican Party campaign in our South suburban townships has moved into high gear sparked by Congressman Ed Derwinski. The intensity of the G.O.P. drive in local areas is as vigorous if not surpassing the activity during the 1960 Presidential campaign.

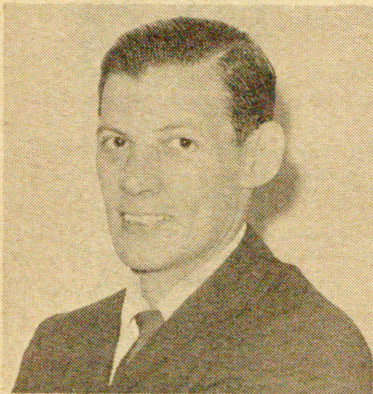

Derwinski, candidate from the fourth district, has set a physically-punishing pace, commencing each day with a handshaking tour at a suburban railway station. By election day, he and other Republican candidates will have covered the Rock Island, Illinois-Central, Wabash and Burlington suburban depots.

"Our goal is to dramatize and clarify the issues for the public," Derwinski explained, "and on both our foreign and domestic fronts, the failure of the Democrat Administration in Washington is clearly apparent to the public. Widespread disillusionment and frustration with Democrat policies are certainly noticeable."

Republican candidates are united in their campaign emphasis, dramatizing the record of huge-spending and increased taxation which they charge that national, state, and county Democrat ad-

Opposes Sales Tax Increase

Don A. Moore, Republican candidate for state representative, Illinois 2nd District, announced recently that he has pledged, if elected, that under no circumstances would he vote for any increase in the state, municipal and/or county sales-use tax rates now in effect. This pledge was made to the Illinois Retail Merchants Association in a questionnaire mailed to all candidates.

DON MOORE

"I realize," said Moore, "that circumstance may alter the present situation, but I am convinced there has been far too great reliance on the sales tax as the single solution to all our fiscal problems. Not nearly enough consideration has been given to the necessity for economy in government which every private individual must face when his income is curtailed." "I am certain," Moore stated, "that without the sales-tax prop, the legislature can and will, if found necessary, find sufficient funds through other sources of revenue. This is essentially an unfair tax hurting the citizen on the purchase of necessities and placing Illinois industry at a competitive disadvantage. Any increase in the rate would give Illinois the highest combined sales tax rate in the United States and, if again raised, the action would mark the third time in the past four legislative sessions that this damaging tax rate would have been increased." "It's time to put the lid on all taxes," Moore declared.

ministrations are responsible.

"We hope for a record off-year turn out," Derwinski reported, "and feel strongly that the public will provide a mandate to the Republican Party and its candidates to give the nation the leadership required in these times, in contrast

Careful and serious thought must be given to the selection of officials for all government offices from the County to the National level.

High taxes have reached a level of real burden.

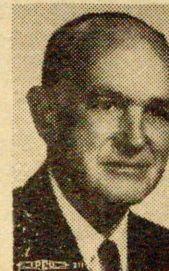

Foreign policy is at a stage of critical decision.

Times not only demand wise and experienced heads but conservative, mature judgment on the part of our officials.

The Chicago Political machine is attempting to secure a foothold in our County. This must be stopped.

The Republican candidates meet every test of mature statesmanship on the national level and qualified, honest, experienced people for state and county offices.

Committee For Modern Courts Wages Fight For Amendment

Illinois women are waging a vigorous campaign for the Blue Ballot Judicial Amendment in all parts of the state.

Their concern is the welfare of youth and the need for effective legal action to deal with juvenile delinquency, according to Mrs. James A. Velde of Lake Bluff, secretary of the Committee for Modern Courts, in charge of women's activities.

The Committee for Modern Courts is the statewide civic committee conducting an informational campaign on the judicial amendment in behalf of the 65 business, labor, farm and civic organizations working for court reform. The amendment will be submitted to voters on a separate Blue Ballot at the Nov. 6 general election.

The Illinois Federation of Womens Club, the American Association of University Women, the Illinois Parent-Teachers Association and the League of Women Voters are spearheading the drive.

Creation of a unified Family Court to handle all cases involving families and juveniles is one aspect of the court reform plan which has attracted considerable interest from women, according to Mrs. Velde.

She said there is an urgent need for a court system capable of dealing with the complex social problems associated with divorce, dependency and juvenile delinquency.

Judges, bar groups and others who have studied the handling of family problems in Illinois have constantly pointed out defects in Illinois' present court system that render it ineffectual in dealing with a wide variety of cases that often breed crime and delinquency, according to Mrs. Velde.

These experts point out that under our present court system, one family may have its problems considered by a family court, county court, probate court, a circuit or superior court, a municipal court, and a justice of the peace.

Mrs. Velde explains, "although problems of a family are inter-related, each of these courts is a separate and distinct entity. Their operations are unrelated. They frequently conflict in the social work done and in decisions made. The result is unnecessary costs in terms of both dollars and cents, as well as human suffering."

The so-called family court has also been attacked. Its critics say it does not cover the entire family, nor is it even a true "court" because its jurisdiction is limited by statute to juveniles under the age of 18.

It will be possible, under the provisions of the new judicial article, for family court to cover family matters in all their rami-

EDITORIAL

Cast Your Ballot Tuesday!

Go to the polls Tuesday and cast your vote! You are fortunate. Many countries around the world do not permit free elections. They have been deprived of a right that we have become to take for granted. That right, however, exists only as long as free men voice their individual desires in elections.

For elections are the means by which a democracy is perpetuated. When each individual fails in carrying out his privileged duty at the polls, the machinery by which democracy functions begins to break down.

One of the prime targets over the last decade of the communist party has been the doing away of elections. Castro, in seizing control of Cuba, had to promise his fellow revolutionists free elections following the takeover. Elections, naturally, did not follow.

Similar dictatorial governments around the globe also refuse their countrymen a role in determining the course of action to be undertaken on the national and local scale. Here in the United States, however, our democratic processes guarantee the right to vote to citizens. We have, individually, the opportunity to actively engage in, or support, the policies under which our government will conduct itself.

In carrying out our duty to ourselves, our fellow man and our children, each voter should scrutinize the records, policies and platforms of each party and party candidate for each elective office. Then a decision should be rendered.

That decision should be then deposited in the ballot boxes. Voters will have that chance Tuesday. Make sure your voice goes not unheard. . .CAST YOUR VOTE!

fications. Divisions of the Family Court, under the jurisdiction of one administrative head, can be established to deal with delinquency, divorce, dependency, adoption, paternity, support and domestic relations. Also, duplication of effort of social workers and other staff and facilities, can be eliminated.

The Blue Ballot Judicial Amendment would also permit the assignment to Family Court of a sufficient number of judges to handle the heavy case load. The present complicated and difficult techniques and procedures used to enforce court orders and decrees on collection of support money would be simplified.

Judge Alfred J. Cilella, who has been assigned to Family Court, is one of the strong backers of the Judicial Amendment on the basis of his conviction that the "tools do not exist to be completely effective today."

Says Judge Cilella, "The power of the Illinois Supreme Court to implement the article by rules, plus the provision for an administrator of the courts, should make for a sensitive response to the demands of the community in the welfare field. Problems requiring immediate attention could be presented to the court. This contrasts with the necessity now for statutory legislation often difficult to obtain. Court congestion can be relieved, permitting a more speedy rendering of justice. Speed often is a crucial factor in cases involving family problems.

Which District Do You Live In?

If you are a voter who is wondering just what district you live in, here are some facts which we hope will help explain it for you.

If you live in Will County you are included in the 41st (State) Senatorial District, the 37th (state) Representative District, the 14th (U.S.) Congressional District, the 12th Judicial Circuit, the 2nd Appellate Court District and the 7th Supreme Court District.

If you live in DuPage County you are included in the 41st (State) Senatorial District, the 36th (State) Representative District, the 14th (U.S.) Congressional District (unless you live in the extreme northeast corner of the County which is in the 10th) the 18th Judicial Circuit, the 2nd Appellate Court District and the 7th Supreme Court District.

If you live in South Cook County you must determine which township you are a resident of before you can know the various districts. The 2nd (State) Senatorial District is made up of Lemont, Palos, Lyons, Riverside and part of Stickney Townships. The 6th (State) Senatorial District is made up of Orland Bremen, Worth and part of Calumet Townships, and part of the north edge of Rich Township.

Goldstick Backs Clean-Air Policy For Cook County

Democratic candidate for suburban Cook County Commissioner, Phillip C. Goldstick, proposed a federally integrated fallout monitoring system as part of a "clean air policy he advocated for Cook County speaking before gatherings in the homes of suburban residents.

In his addresses, Goldstick backed proposals for a binding county law against air pollution, backed a proposal to examine feasibility of establishing a garbage disposal district, and proposed setting up within the framework of the Cook County Public Health Service a fallout monitoring program.

He said: "Pollution from below is a danger to all of us, our children and our old folks, but it's only one side of a rather smudgy coin."

He quoted from government reports demonstrating that part of this problem is a local problem, a problem of the county.

He said that as the result of research he has made, he has learned that there are plans for integrating local governmental facilities into a national network of fallout monitoring facilities.

"There is a program still in the planing stages into which Cook County must fit."

"We in Cook County must be prepared to lock arms with the Federal health authorities. We must do this by working in a coordinated manner with Federal health agencies and laying down the basic county-wide framework to accomplish this vital task.

Goldstick recently received notification that he was endorsed by the Independent Voters of Illinois in his candidacy for Suburban Cook County Commissioner on the Democratic ticket.

This endorsement came on the

Conti Seeks To Break County 'Strangle-Hold'

Elmer W. Conti, Republican candidate for Cook County Treasurer, and president of Elmwood Park, has covered hundreds of miles inside Cook County telling voters--Independents, Democrats and Republicans--that the Democrats have a "strangle-hold on out county government that must be broken once and for all."

Conti has charged that the Democrats are "running scared because they know they've fooled the taxpayers of this county for the last time."

The talks in our county controllers office of a budget slash are phony and the voters know it. The Democrats keep talking about economy but slate their hearings on the proposed county budget until after the elections when it's too late," Conti is telling voters.

"Our opponents are desperate because they finally woke up to the fact that there will be an overwhelming Republican victory on Nov. 6. At this point they'll stop at nothing. After they attempted a frontal attack on my campaign manager Ben Adamowski, and were repelled by a record unblemished, we can expect them to strike out in any direction in their desperation," he said.

Conti has expressed confidence in his election. Repeatedly he has said that he is not promising voters of Cook County a New Deal, a Fair Deal or a cut in the County budget. "I promise voters that the County government will operate within a prescribed budget--a budget in which every item has stood the test of necessity and one in which no wanton waste of taxpayer's money has a part," Conti says.

Further confidence is expressed by Conti in his stumping of the County when he tells audiences, "I'll be the next Cook County Treasurer because I have the qualifications necessary for that job. I believe in a banker for a banker's job and my experience as president of a savings and loan association and director of a bank have given me that unmarred. I sponsored or co-sponsored 118 bills as a legislator and the office of county treasurer requires that background. Finally, my ten years as President of Elmwood Park leaves a public record for all to see. That village now enjoys a balanced budget after being on the brink of bankruptcy through previous administrations."

"Above all," Conti says, "Voters will go to the polls on Nov. 6 and elect Republicans because our current county government lacks an important ingredient--checks and balances. Under the present system proper blame for inefficiency cannot be brought to public view because of the one-party system. We need county office holders who can point to inefficiency and waste without a political boss breathing down their neck."

Conti announced that he is getting support for his election from Democrats, Independent voters and Republicans. He said that seven unions have advised him that they are supporting him because "their membership is impressed with his record in public office and because he has a background of activities in behalf of all the people." Conti estimated that there were some twenty thousand voters in the group of seven unions supporting him.

CONTI CAMPAIGN EXPRESS, a train observation platform built on the back of a truck, has carried Elmer W. Conti, Republican candidate for Cook County Treasurer to rallies at shopping centers, neighborhoods and downtown streets. Conti is making a bid for the county treasurer's post in the general election Tuesday.

Keane Seeks Return To Cook County Board of Appeals

Goerge M. Keane, Democratic candidate for re-election to the Cook County Board of Appeals, has won indorsements from top labor, good government and professional organizations as the campaign goes into the final stretch for the Nov. 6 election.

Top labor organization giving Keane full support in his campaign for re-election is the Chicago Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

For "good government" service as a Board of Appeals member and candidate for re-election, Keane has been honored by the indorsement of the Illinois Good Government Institute.

And special recognition for a new judicial approach Keane has brought to the Board of Appeals has been accorded by the Chicago Bar Association through the publication in the September issue of the Association's official "Bar Record" of a lecture delivered by Keane to the Association on the subject, "The Lawyer and the Board of Appeals: the Impact of the Friedlander Case."

In the numerous indorsement, Keane has been credited with having brought to the Board of Appeals a wide background of experience as a lawyer and of education in law and civil engineering.

In addition to his background in law and civil engineering, Keane also has been active as a director and officer of business corporations.

A native of Chicago, Keane and his family now live at 1026 Woodbine Ave., Oak Park. He and his wife, the former Mary Jane McCarthy, are the parents of six children, five girls and a boy.

Keane was graduated cum laude from Loyola Academy; obtained a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering at Northwestern University, and was graduated with the juris doctor degree from the School of Law of Northwestern University.

Judge Harold Mance Waging Campaign For State Legislature

Judge Harold W. Mance, popular Democratic figure from Lyons township and the endorsed candidate for state representative from the second district on the Democratic ballot in the Nov. 6 election is waging an all-out campaign for his bid to the state legislature.

A graduate of traffic institute at Northwestern University, he also majored in political science and government at Loyola University and the University of Chicago. Active in civic affairs for many years, he has served on the Hodgkins Youth Commission and also as a parole advisor for the U.S. Government.

He believes that the franchise corporation tax should be increased, that there should be a tax on all our natural resources such as coal, oil, gas, etc., as in other states. Judge Mance contends that the small working man is paying far too much in the way of real estate, personal and sales tax and that he should be given relief. He believes in economy and integrity of government.

In a recent statement, Judge Mance stated that he "believes that there is too much waste, inefficiency, duplication, red tape and over-lapping in all our governmental agencies."

4th District Congressional Foes Agree on Blue Ballot

Congressman Edward Derwinski (Republican, 4th dist.) and his Democratic opponent, Richard Friedman, have agreed that Illinois voters should adopt the blue ballot judicial amendment November 6.

"As a member of the Illinois legislature in the 1957 session I voted in favor of placing the judicial amendment on the ballot," Derwinski said. "I supported it in 1958 and naturally am supporting it in 1962."

"I am giving the amendment my complete endorsement," he continued. "I firmly believe that the voters of Illinois will approve the proposition this fall."

Friedman stated that he is in favor of the amendment "right down the line."

"As a lawyer," he said, "I experienced the continual backlog of cases which may amount to a delay of as much as six or seven years."

"Justice delayed is justice denied," he went on. "I believe that the amendment will do much to ease this tremendous backlog in Cook County."

RICHARD E. FRIEDMAN, Democratic candidate for congress in the fourth congressional district, hosted a recent dinner for 250 volunteer workers. Here Friedman and his wife are seen stirring the "World's Largest Spaghetti Pot" for a group of Tinley Park residents.
